I have been much happier being back at school this last week after my week working 'in isolation'. Spending time around the classes and outside in the playground, it has been great to see all the friends together and the learning taking place.

This last week has been important as celebrations have taken place for the Lunar New Year and the commencement of the Year of the Tiger. I would like to thank my young assembly helpers who talked about the activities and celebrations in their households recently. There has been some wonderful art and craft going on too, quite often involving tigers! There are just a few pictures below to share with you from around the school. As well as that, looking around the classes, I have been impressed by the challenging maths activities, the Lego animation movies, the descriptive writing and the amazing knowledge about earthquakes (the last one is Year 3!). Just a few of those pics can also be seen below.

Year 4 entertained and educated us this morning with the first class assembly of the Spring Term. Mr Sitch had all of Maple Class in the role of scientists teaching us about what they had learned in class on 'States of Matter'. They inflated balloons with gas, demonstrated how condensation works and set up an exploding bottle of coke! A memorable presentation for us all and a big thank you to Mr Sitch for the work.

Next week, there will be a National Internet Safety Day and we will be discussing many aspects of online safety and appropriate behaviour with the children – all important topics to regularly reinforce.

Until next week, I wish you all the best for the weekend....

Mr Leigh Hardie, Head
